Happy Tuesday, how are you? I haven't heard from you in a while and assume you're on an adventure.

Are you:

1. Rallying up the UNC Alumnae for some March Madness watch parties?
2. Taste testing a bevy of BBQ Sauce in prep for summer BBQ season?
3. Juggling spring break family scheduling?
4. None of the above, just slammed with work and life, have been thinking about my proposal but haven't had time to get back to me yet?

Whichever adventure you've been on, will you let me know when you catch a moment? I am cool with whatever's been happening in your world —just want to get a pulse check to know whether I should keep bugging you OR leave you alone to live your adventures :)

Thanks again for considering working with me. Would love to work together. Have a great day.
